THE TRIANGLE SECRETARY

Bliss Carman in Association Men.

Up to the front line trenches
Where the brunt of the fighting falls,
And back to the last cantonment
When the summoning bugle calls.
Wherever there's need of a brother
To carry the fighting tune,
In the war of men and angels,—
Go the men of the Great Triune.

To war with the darkling powers
Courageous and clean they go.
They carry no arms in the battle,
But the things that count they know.
They know when a word is in season,
When a friendly hand is a boon,—
To serve and be glad in the serving
Is the creed of the Great Triune.

On the sands of the blazing desert,
On the pass of relentless snows,
Wherever in quest of freedom
The trail of humanity goes.
There's never a post too lonely,
There's never a time too soon,
Nor ever a task too daunting
For the heart of the Great Triune.

In the home of the Master of Manhood,
Who taught that man is divine
Spirit and mind and body,
They hold the supporting line.
Till the world that sits in darkness
Shall walk in the light of noon,
They will wear the triple chevron,
Defending their faith triune.

Faith in the far off vision,
The truth of the mystic plan
Where love and reason and valor
Meet in the perfect Man.
Read of the Marching Mor-
rows,
Through the wake of a waning moon,
Come up with the Sons of Morning
The men of the Great Triune.

The United War Work Campaign is progressing well in St. Johnsbury and in the next three days there will be notable additions to the fund. While there is an unusual number of large subscriptions it is also true that many of the smallest gifts represent the greatest sacrifice upon the part of the giver.

Now that the dethroned Kaiser has taken a German name one recalls that it is the same that Kipling referred to in "An Imperial Rescript" where he says
"There's a girl in Jersey City who works on the telephone;
"We're going to hitch our horses and dig for a house of our own,
"With gas and water connections, and steam heat through to the top;
"And, W. Hohenzollern, I guess I shall work till I drop."

VEGETABLES IN THE CELLAR

Every cellar with any kind of house heating plant in it is usually too warm and dry for vegetables, says the National War Commission of Washington. The thing to do in such a cellar is to partition off a small room—corner room preferable—with a window or two, for a vegetable or root cellar.

The partition is easily built with 2x4 inch strips placed at top and bottom to which the boards are nailed, a single thickness of boards is not enough. A fairly good partition may be made by placing building paper over the boards with tongue-and-groove material over this.

To make a well insulated partition, however, is more of a job. Use a 2x4 scantling for a plate on the floor and set studding from plate to ceiling. Place these 16 inches apart, nail boards on the outside, cover with building paper and nail tongue-and-groove material over the paper. On the inside lath and plaster in the usual way. Put in a door wide enough to take in a barrel for convenience in getting vegetables in and out.

J. E. Bernier, of Brighton, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the office in Rutland of the clerk of the United States court. He has liabilities of $1,264 and assets of $150, all claimed to be exempt. The largest creditors are: T. H. Lawson, of Berlin, $335; Clark & Cheney, of North Stratford, $225; J. H. Hinman, of Island Pond, $232; Fred Wood, of Norton, $100.

PRESS COMMENT

"For Beverage Purposes"

It cannot be repeated too often or emphasized too strongly that the Constitutional amendment which the next Vermont legislature will be asked to ratify prohibits the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors "for beverage purposes" only.

Alcohol may or may not be necessary for medicinal purposes. The preponderance of expert medical opinion at the present time is against such use except in a very few exceptional cases; but whether it is needed in few or in many cases as a medicine has nothing whatever to do with the question now under consideration.

Very strict laws have been passed regarding the sale and use of narcotic drugs. They have a recognized and undisputed value in medicine, and no one wishes to stop their legitimate use to relieve pain when administered by a qualified physician. But very properly the government does all in its power to prevent their indiscriminate use by persons who have acquired the drug habit or are in danger of doing so.

The same thing is true in the case of alcohol. It is a narcotic, habit-forming drug, and should never be used unless under the direction of a competent physician who prescribes it for some definite remedial purpose.

Again, certain branches of the Christian church believe that they must use fermented wine in the sacrament of the Lord's supper. Whether they are right or wrong in their belief, has nothing to do with the question under discussion. The amendment if adopted will not interfere with their practice in the least.

It is true that a lower court in Oklahoma decided that the prohibitory law of that state forbade the use of fermented wine in the sacrament, and the decision has been used by the liquor interests in various states as a means of frightening some very good people into opposing all prohibitory laws.

They have failed to make equally clear the fact that the Supreme Court of Oklahoma reversed the decision of the lower court, and that even if it had not, the case was entirely different from the present one in which the prohibition is explicitly of liquor "for beverage purposes," and includes nothing else.

Let no one be deceived. The United States Constitution gives power or limits power only in matters concerning which it speaks in explicit terms. The proposed amendment if adopted will forbid the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors "for beverage purposes," and nothing else whatever.—Vermont Issue.

VERMONT NEWS

Frank Barnes of Heath, Mass., 76, pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a muskrat out of season and to the charge of stealing a sheep from Frank Wheeler of Whitington. The case came to trial in Brattleboro. For having the muskrat, Acting Judge F. M. Butler imposed a fine of $25 and costs of $14.80, which Barnes paid. On the plea of guilty to stealing the sheep the court sentenced Barnes to not less than four months nor more than six months in the house of correction at Rutland but suspended the sentence and placed the respondent on probation for a year, an additional condition being that he pay Mr. Wheeler $15 for the sheep.

A largely attended public meeting was held in the Auditorium at Brattleboro Tuesday night in the interest of the Victory boys' and girls' campaign and was addressed by Rollo G. Reynolds of Lyndonville, state chairman of the Victory boys. There were four minute talks by Rev. D. H. Trout and Miss Florence H. Wells and chorus and solo singing.

Lyons, of New York city, at Camp Iroquois, Malletts Bay, Monday morning about 9 o'clock, Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Spaulding of Colchester, arrested Edward Coderre, of Burlington and Winoski. With the capture officials think that they have located the thief who has been burglarizing the cottages for several years. In the court at Colchester Monday afternoon before Judge Henry Conlin, Coderre was sentenced to serve not less than three nor more than five years at hard labor in the state prison at Windsor.

A company of Girl Reserves of America has been organized in Rutland. Nineteen girls joined at the first meeting.

BUILDING BAN REMOVED

Taken Off Along with Other Restrictions Incident to War

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Forty-two American industries which for months have been operating on a curtailed program owing to war demands, prepared today for a partial return to peacetime basis. Announcement of removal by the war industries board in part of the restrictions on production was published today.

Industries whose peace-time output has been restricted in the interest of the prosecution of the war are allowed by the order to increase their production 50 per cent of the reduction fixed by the board, while for building and construction material all limits are removed. Included in the list is the manufacture of passenger automobiles, which by the order is allowed to proceed at 75 per cent of normal. Other production includes agricultural implements, heating and plumbing appliances, piano and sewing machines, clocks and watches and enamelled tin-plate household utensils.

HUGE WAR PLANT TO CLOSE

Twelve Thousand Men and Women Must Seek Other Work

Long Island City, N. Y., Nov. 13.—War department orders received here today shortly will close one of the largest government gas defense plants in the country. Twelve thousand men and women, many of whom have been earning from $30 to $80 a week, as compared with their wages of from $12 to $15 before the war, will have to seek work elsewhere. The majority of the workers are relatives of soldiers. The plant has been operating 24 hours daily.

Close Harmony Under Fire

THE men had finished supper, and sat around in listless groups. Even when a shell went zooming overhead they showed no interest. They were fed up on this war.

A little gray car chugged up the hill to their camp. Two war work men stepped out, carrying between them a curious long box.

"What you got there?" asked the doughboys.

"An organ."

"Well, can you beat that!"

"We've come to give you a little entertainment," said one man.

"All right?"

"You bet it's all right," answered a young officer. "This gang hasn't seen a soul from the outside world for weeks. Go as far as you like."

And they did.

They sang the new songs, just over from Broadway. In a minute the whole camp was singing them. Then they sang the verse of a good old close-harmony melody, and the crowd roared the chorus.

"But haven't you men got anybody who can sing?" asked one of the entertainers. The response was immediate and overwhelming.

"Sure we have! Oh, you Shorty! Come on, Happy! Give 'em that 'Perfect Day,' Bill!"

And then things really started.

"Would you know it's the same gang?" asked the American officers.

For two hours it lasted, and then the visitors packed up their organ.

"Come again soon and send more of your men," said the officer. "We can't get too much of it!"

"So long!" yelled the men. "Good luck! Come again!"

Wherever there are American soldiers overseas, these organizations are carrying entertainment to them. Movies, concerts, lectures, local talent, even full-fledged comedies with a truck for the stage, from the simplest sing-songs in the woods to the most elaborate program in city theatres, everywhere free entertainment is provided to meet conditions.

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

The need is for a sum 70% greater than any gift ever asked for since the world began. The Government has fixed this sum at $170,500,000.

By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns is saved.

Unless Americans do give twice as much as ever before, our soldiers and sailors may not enjoy during 1919 their:

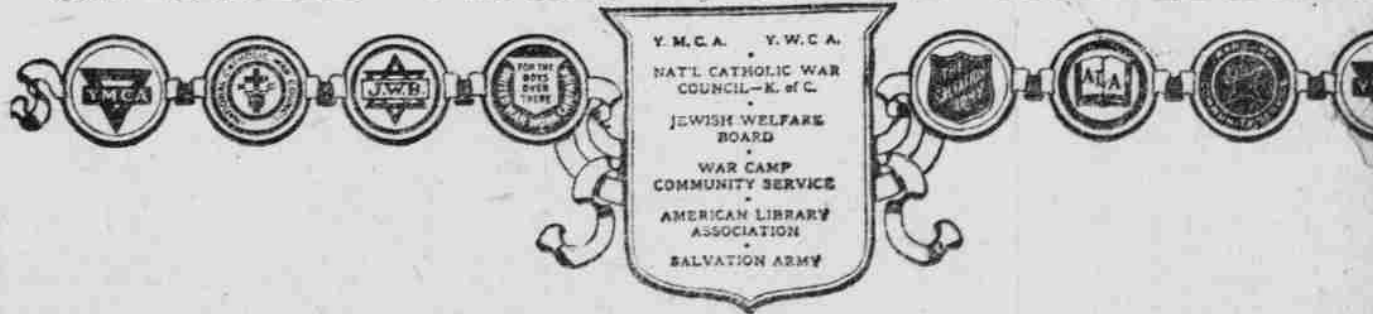

3600 Recreation Buildings	2500 Libraries supplying 5,000,000 books
1000 Miles of Movie Film	85 Hostess Houses
100 Leading Stage Stars	15,000 Big-brother "secretaries"
2000 Athletic Directors	Millions of dollars of home comforts

When you give double, you make sure that every fighter has the cheer and comforts of these seven organizations every step of the way from home to the front and back again. You provide him with a church, a theatre, a cheerful home, a store, a school, a club and an athletic field—and a knowledge that the folks back home are with him, heart and soul!

You have loaned your money to supply their physical needs.

Now give to maintain the Morale that is winning the war!
